

Sonia Colina

Dr. Sonia Colina is Professor of Spanish, Director of Graduate Studies, and Director of the National Center for Interpretation at the University of Arizona, where she also teaches translation studies and coordinates the Online Translation Certificate.

She is the author of Fundamentals of Translation (CUP, 2015), Translation Teaching: from Research to the Classroom (McGraw-Hill, 2003), and numerous articles in edited volumes and journals (e.g., Target, The Translator). Her research areas are translation quality assessment, pedagogy of translation, and translator education. Dr. Colina has in-house and free-lance translation experience and is President of ATISA (American Translation and Interpreting Studies Association).

